RANDAL THE BRAWLER

SINGLE MALT IRISH WHISKEY

RANDAL THE BRAWLER is an Irish whiskey based on malted barley, produced in copper stills and slowly aged over time in oak barrels. Thanks to triple distillation, it achieves a pure taste and distinct character. Compared by connoisseurs to twelve-year-old Scottish whiskey blends. Its deep amber tone refers to the colours of a warm Irish sun set.

Aroma: sweet toasted grain combined with citrus, apple and raspberry.

Taste: mild, fruity, together with the bitterness of citrus, apples and raspberries.

Finish: an interesting combination of both full bodied and sweet flavours, tart and bitter apples, complemented by roasted grains.

There were stories of Randal The Brawler – a gallant, fearless adventurer that inspired the creation of the brand. Production takes place in a former brewery, whose history dates back to 1896.

To bring out the depth of aromas, it is best to taste it from an old fashioned whiskey tumbler or a tulip-shaped glass. Adding icy cold water will enhance and extract extra hidden flavours and aromas. Tastes great solo at room temperature.
